

Whatever It Takes Matrix V10.0

A matrix of recent Government announcements in response to the coronavirus outbreak

Created: 25th March 2020

Last Updated: 8th January 2021

The government's support during the Coronavirus is unprecedented, never have we seen such support from a government, I therefore wanted to share with you a summary of these, if it were of interest.

What follows is my understanding of the new package and I have separated the benefits to Employees/Individual, Self-Employed/Partners and Businesses/Employers.

	Individuals / Employees	Self-Employed Individuals*	Businesses / Employers*

an employer with up to 80% of the pay of an employee who is not working but kept on the payroll (“furloughed”).

Up to a maximum of £2,500 per month, plus, up to 31 July, the associated employer national insurance contributions and pension contributions (up to the level of the minimum automatic enrolment employer pension contribution) on that subsidised furlough pay.

Shareholding directors (“owner managers”) can furlough themselves in respect of their director’s duties, but only in respect of their salaries (not any dividends) and directors can only carry out their statutory duties.

Eligibility date extended to 19 March 2020 and scheme extended to 31 October 2020, but, from 30 June, employers will only be able to furlough employees that they have furloughed for a full three-week period prior to 30 June. From 1 July, employers will be able to bring furloughed employees back part time, while still being able to claim CJRS grant for their normal hours not worked. From 1 August to 31 October, employers will be asked to pay a percentage towards the salaries of their furloughed staff, which will substitute the Government contribution, so that staff continue to receive 80% of their salary, up to £2,500 a month. Employers will pay employer national insurance and pension contributions from 1 August, and will also contribute 10% of wages from 1 September, and 20% of wages from 1 October.

CJRS extended to cover 1 November 2020 to 30 April 2021, for employees on an employer’s payroll by 23:59 on 30 October. Employees who were made redundant or stopped working after 23 September can also qualify for the scheme if the employer re-employs them. For claim periods to 31 January 2021, the Government will pay 80% of usual wages for hours not worked up to a cap of £2,500, and employers will pay employer NICs and pension contributions. In January, the Government will decide if economic circumstances are improving enough to ask employers to contribute more.

The Job Support Scheme (JSS) will replace the CJRS for six months after the CJRS (SEISS) the self-employed (including partners), the majority of who’s income is derived from self-employment, can secure a taxable direct grant of 80% of their average profit for the three tax years ending with the 2018/19 tax year or a shorter period (even just the 2018/19 tax year) if three years’ accounts are not available. This is subject to a maximum payment of £2500 per month for three months, i.e. £7,500. The first grant could be applied for up until 13 July. Applications for a second grant opened in August, worth 70% of average monthly trading profits, covering three months’ worth of profits, and capped at £6,570 in total.

To qualify, the 2018/19 profit or average profit for up to three years ending with 2018/19 must not exceed £50,000, and the self-employed individual/partner must:

- have traded in 2019/20;
- be trading when they apply, or would be except for coronavirus;
- intend to continue to trade in 2020/21; and
- have lost trading profits due to coronavirus.

Claimants can continue to work and generate profit.

The SEISS will be extended for six months from 1 November, with two grants available to self-employed individuals, including members of partnerships, who temporarily cannot trade as well as those traders who were previously eligible for the SEISS and are actively continuing to trade, but are facing reduced demand. The first grant, will be based on 80% of average monthly trading profits for the three-month period from 1 November 2020 to 31 January 2021, paid out in a single instalment, and capped at £7,500 in total. The second grant, the amount of which has not been set yet, will cover a three-month period from 1 February 2021 until 30 April 2021.

	ends. JSS Open - where businesses are open and employees are working shorter hours due to reduced demand, employees should receive at least two thirds of their usual pay for hours not worked. Employers will pay employees for hours worked; Government will contribute 61.67% of usual pay for hours not worked (maximum £1,541.75 per month); and employers will have to pay 5% (maximum £125 per month), but can top this up if they choose. Employees must work at least 20% of their usual hours, otherwise the caps are reduced proportionately. JSS Closed – where businesses’ premises are legally required to close, including where restricted to delivery or collection-only or providing food and/or drinks outdoors, the Government will fund two thirds of employees’ usual wages for time not worked (maximum £2,083.33 per month). Employers will not be required to contribute, but can top this up if they choose. In both cases, employers need to cover all employer national insurance and pension contributions. Families of eligible workers in frontline health and adult and children’s social care who die from coronavirus in the course of their frontline essential work will receive a £60,000 payment under a new life assurance scheme funded by the Government. Funding will also be provided to support similar schemes in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.		February 2021, has been withdrawn and will be replaced by an alternative retention incentive “at the appropriate time.” The Job Support Scheme (JSS) will replace the CJRS for six months after the CJRS ends. All Small and Medium-Sized Enterprises (SMEs) will be eligible; large businesses (with 250 or more employees on 23 September 2020) will be required to demonstrate that their business has been adversely affected by COVID-19, and will not be expected to make capital distributions (e.g. dividends), while using the scheme.
Sick Pay – click here and here	Currently £95.85 for 2020/21, would be available to employees from day one instead of day four, including for those advised to self-isolate. However, there was no change in the minimum earnings threshold for SSP (£120 a week in 2020/21).	See Benefits below.	Businesses with fewer than 250 employees can be refunded for the cost of SSP for up to 14 days. The size of an employer will be determined by the number of people they employed as of 28 February 2020.
Benefits – click here	From 6 April 2020, for 12 months, the standard allowance in Universal Credit (UC) and the basic element in Working Tax Credit (WTC) will be increased by £20 a week over and above	For those not entitled to SSP (e.g. the self-employed and gig economy workers), Contributory Employment and Support Allowance (ESA – a basic £74.35 a week for those 25 and

To ensure that time off work due to sickness is reflected in benefits, the minimum income floor in Universal Credit (UC) is temporarily removed if an individual gets coronavirus or has to stay at home because of it. The minimum income floor won't apply to anyone after 6 April 2020. The stated aim is to ensure every self-employed person can now access, in full, UC at a rate equivalent to SSP for employees. The minimum income floor is due to be reinstated on 30 April 2021.

Mortgages – click here and here	For those in difficulty due to coronavirus, mortgage lenders will offer at least a three-month mortgage holiday. Those who have already had a payment holiday can have a further three-month deferral; and those who have not yet had a payment holiday will be able to request two payment deferrals, of up to six months in total. Those who have resumed repayments after an initial payment deferral will be eligible for another payment deferral of up to three months. Those resuming payments will be given options on how best to do so. Borrowers have until 31 January 2021 to request a payment deferral. The FCA expects lenders to provide tailored support to those who are not eligible for further payment deferrals. A ban on repossessions will continue to 31 January 2021.

The minimum income floor is usually what someone of the same age would earn if they worked at the National Minimum Wage for the number of hours that the self-employed individual is expected to work or look for work. Normally, if the self-employed individual earns less than the minimum income floor, UC will not make up the difference.
